following is a brief description of the Monday afternoon armed robbery at Robbies in Tioga Lake Shopping Centre which is reported to have taken place at approximately 4.45pm. A man entered the shop and demanded cash from the till. Two men are then reported to have confronted the man in the shop and punched him before he assaulted one of them. This was said to have been witnessed by two customers. The suspect fled the shop before the police arrived. ### What's new in Strange Nightmares:

The world of weird nightmares has begun showing up in our dreams of late. These nightmares are directly related to the strange lurking gemstones of the Ixonium. Contents Introduction The Weyarders mention these unusual dreams in the Banner. They believe the dreams to be past mystical and historical events, which has affected the Aurions of Ixonium and thus brought about madness from within. Presentation These nightmares invade the mind in the form of imagery. When encountered, they present themselves in the form of images that have been used as part of the backdrop of an actual

This is not a dream, neither is it life, and is only similar to visions as these images are disconnected from reality. You awaken into a nightmare. Alienation of self In the first time you find yourself caught in a nightmare, you wake up with a feeling that you are not yourself. You look into the mirror and do not see the face of your current self. You might see someone else looking back at you, before the thought fades and the nightmare begins. By the time you arrive at the end of the nightmare, the feeling of you being not yourself will not be there. The first time I had to deal with this, I awoke in what I believe to have been bed with candles. I was sat on a bed; a monstrous creature, resembling a chimera, with the head of a man, body of a kangaroo, and legs and wings of a bat, crawled across the bed. I screamed, just as I was being clutched in its mouth. I struggled, and tore off its head, biting a few times. I heard a commotion downstairs, and people were almost certainly searching for me. I headed downstairs, calling out to warn them. I was not able to reach the ground on my own feet, not even if I had tried, so I was put onto the shoulder of a man, whilst a woman carried me downstairs. When I said, "Who are you?" to the woman, she replied to me, saying, "When we get to the bloodhouse, you can ask them." I thought this was odd, and the woman took a far too long time to get to a phone, putting the night's events in question. I am
